Government Relief in Ireland.

LONDON, Nov. 22 —A dispatch from Dublin says the government has determined to abandon the preliminary difficulties which might impede the obtaining of loans from the board of public works and from improvement of estates, and in order to expedite expenditure of money strictly for employment of [illegible] labor, they will immediately [illegible] to land owners and sanitary authorities. They will add to the principal the amount of preliminary interest on the sums advanced, allowing two years' grace. Repayment, therefore, will begin at the beginning of the third year. THE CUBAN WAR:

Spanish Successes at Various Points

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

HAVANA, Nov. 23.—The government has received official reports that in the province of Santiago de Cuba the troops of the Ayuso [illegible] on the 5th inst attacked the camp of [illegible], killing six insurgents and burning one hundred huts which the followers of Guillermo had built. Among the killed was Lieut. Col Teobaldo Rosello. In the jurisdiction of Las Tunas Commander Luis Cervera and Capt Angel Castillo have surrendered with a number of men belonging to the command of Chief Belisarte. A column in the province of Santa Clara the Spanish defeated a band of insurgents who abandoned their horses in the flight.

Revolutionists Win a Good Position

HAVANA, Nov 23 —San Domingo advices to the 8th inst. A fight had occurred between the forces of President Guillermo and the revolutionists at San Pedro. Guillermo was dislodged from the position he held and [illegible] to retreat in some disorder [illegible]. The revolutionists advanced and [illegible] the capital. The [illegible] capital was on the river side [illegible] of Seybo [illegible] Guillermo [illegible] further fresh troops [illegible] in consequence [illegible] and province of Seybo. THE SOUTH AMERICAN WAR

A Chilean Army Invades Peru—Firm Resistance of the Peruvian Troops—Probable Movements

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

NEW YORK Nov [illegible] —A Lima [illegible] that at last the long heralded descent of Chileans on the Peruvian coast has been [illegible] [illegible] Sunday morning [illegible] [illegible] sixteen of the enemy's vessels transports and men of war appeared off [illegible] and [illegible] without [illegible] course [illegible] the [illegible] Pisagua was [illegible] by [illegible] Gen Granier [illegible] it appears that [illegible] in charge of the [illegible] Pisagua was likewise in place at the time. Two [illegible] 100 pounders were [illegible] and [illegible] that they were without adequate shelter. The fight was heavy and loss of life great. The shore batteries made a gallant resistance but Pisagua was captured and Buendia retired towards San Roberto a short two leagues from the coast. A battle on land must soon take place. Later dispatches received announce that Buendia has fallen back to Penagrande on the thirty four mile stretch between the inland terminus of the Pisagua and Iquique railroad and had been joined by his reinforcements, making in all about 20,000 men. The Chilean advance was at Santa Catalina 10 miles or more from Pisagua on the road and still going forward toward Buendia's position. Prado and Daza or their columns must also be advancing towards the province of Tarapaca from Arica and Tacna, directly in the rear of the Chileans. The number of the latter is variously estimated and is probably 10,000 to 11,000 soldiers. Fears are entertained of the destruction of Iquique by the united Chilean naval force. The town is only guarded by national guards as all the regular have gone to Buendia's support. Lima has been declared under martial law. All citizens capable of bearing arms must enroll themselves in the line of national guard regiments but the attacking force of Chileans on the Tarapaca seems to secure the safety of Lima from any similar assault. It is not probable that the enemy is strong enough to attempt two such undertakings and it is evident that the main object of Chile is the nitrate of Tarapaca and possibly later on her attention may be turned toward the guano deposits in the same latitude.

A SCENE OF BLOOD.

The Huascar after the Battle—Her Men Horribly Mutilated—Four men Killed in an Attempt to Haul Down the Flag

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

NEW YORK, Nov 23 —A letter from Antofogasta in a supplement of the Star and Herald of Panama giving details of the fight with the Peruvian iron clad Huascar says that the scene on board the Huascar at the moment of surrender baffles description, and on seeing the wreck composed of pieces of thick iron twisted into every conceivable shape, splinters of wood, rifles, shreds of furniture all mixed with fragments of flesh and the deck flowing with blood, one could only gaze in wonder at the deadly effects of modern arms. The cabin of the commander was a wreck and where it existed were a number of dead bodies. The only part that could be found of Commander Grau was a foot and a small part of one leg. The body of the second commander was in a frightful condition. One of the large balls had struck him in the head carrying the whole upper part away and leaving only the fragment of the lower jaw with beard attached. On his right leg were four wounds and his right arm and side were completely smashed. According to the Huascar's register there were over 60 persons missing. These are accounted for by a statement that from the bursting of shells some of the crew were blown into the sea, while others were torn into fragments. One shell killed 18 persons. So rapid and fatal was the firing that the deck of the Huascar was completely cleared, and it was with difficulty to find any to run the risk of coming up to lower the flag, four in succession having lost their lives in the attempt. It was successfully accomplished by a negro. It is thought that $30,000 will make the Huascar fit for sea and fight again, although her whole upper works were knocked to pieces by the Chilean fire.

Peruvian Ports again Blockaded.

NEW YORK, Nov 22 —A dispatch dated Valparaiso Nov 10th, states that all Peruvian ports the blockades of which were raised about a month ago, have again been blockaded.

STORM AND DISASTER.

The Steamship Rathmore Encounters Rough Weather Several Days Out from Baltimore—Her Captain Killed.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

BALTIMORE Nov 23 —The British steamship Rathmore Capt Rowles which sailed from this port Tuesday last with a large cargo including 296 cattle for London, returned this morning. First officer Mitchell reports that the ship passed out of the capes on Wednesday when the weather was boisterous, but she behaved well until Thursday night. As soon as the gulf stream was reached a heavy chop sea was encountered but the ship kept on her course. On Thursday night at about 10 o'clock while the first officer's watch was on deck she was struck by a sea which swept her forward deck away carrying away the cattle pens and sweeping ten or twelve of the cattle overboard. First Officer Mitchell was thrown down and so injured that he had to be taken to his room. Boatswain Thompson was then called to take the watch. He and Capt Rowles who had come on deck were standing on the bridge when it was discovered that the trisail was adrift. Capt Rowles ordered Thompson to take men and secure it. The work required about half an hour and when Thompson returned to his post on the bridge he found the dead body of Capt Rowles. The [illegible] over the forward hatch had fallen on his head and both [illegible] had crushed through his skull to the brain, killing him instantly. A half an hour later the ship became unmanageable and broached to. For some time she was buffeted by the sea and the cattle had become perfectly wild. The ship was however got on an even keel again and started on her return for this port. Her hull suffered no damage, and the only injury she sustained was the loss of her foreboom. Besides the cattle swept overboard a number were killed, the whole loss amounting to about 30. Many were crippled. The boatswain says that Capt Rowles before he was killed expressed his intention to return to Baltimore as the cattle pens piled with [illegible] of hay were not fit to voyage across the Atlantic this season of the year.

THE NICARAGUA CANAL

European Capital Assured on Condition that Grant Shall be President of the Company.

NEW YORK, Nov 14 —The World says: The Isthmus labors of Lesseps have not been in vain. A Washington dispatch indicates that they have had the good result of effectually turning the attention of Europeans. Capital, which could not be commanded in Paris itself for the construction of the canal, by a route and under the conditions favored by Lesseps, can be commanded by the United States and its construction as Ammen has shown such a canal ought to be constructed through Nicaragua. The conditions attached to the offer of capital already received in this country for such a canal are that Grant shall accept the presidency of the company and that in the official capacity thus given him he shall apply to the Nicaraguan government for the necessary concession. It cannot be doubted that Grant will very seriously consider the proposition thus made and the opportunities it offers him, not to say duties which it imposes upon him.

Another Washington special states that this morning Ammen called upon President Hayes with a letter from an acquaintance in Paris, assuring him of a satisfactory arrangement in Paris for the immediate advancement when required, of one third of the capital necessary to the Nicaragua canal enterprise by one of the most substantial banking houses of Europe, upon condition that Grant will consent to accept the presidency of an American company organized for the construction of the work. The writer adds that he leaves immediately for America to confer with parties in this country interested in this great enterprise. On receipt of this letter Ammen immediately telegraphed the facts to Grant at Chicago.

Referring to the above the Herald's Chicago special says:

A Herald correspondent called upon Grant this evening to inquire just what was his position in regard to the Nicaragua Canal Company. After a few preliminaries the correspondent asked:

Would you accept the presidency of the Nicaragua Inter Oceanic Canal Company if proffered to you?

I should not like to say I would accept it, replied Gen Grant, upon the rumor simply that money could be raised. I should want to know that ample subscriptions had been made and that certain concessions had been obtained from the Nicaraguan government.

You favor that route, then?

Yes, it is by far the best. The surveys made while I was president were at my instigation—in fact, I instigated the plan indirectly. I tried to get an appropriation for the purpose of carrying on the work, and had I been in office a little longer, I think I could have accomplished something.

What is your plan as to its management should you accept the presidency?

I think it should be neutral water and that congress should pass an act assuming some sort of supervision over it simply to have an eye to its protection because it is on our continent.

Do you think subscriptions would be made if you signify your willingness to serve as president of the company?

I am not sure, replied Gen Grant, that French capitalists would be influenced at all by that. At any rate I should want to know authoritatively just what will be done if I consent.

Will this canal project cause any change in your plans?

I should perhaps go to Cuba for the winter but I would defer my visit if I could assist this project in any way. I have always felt a great interest in it, and whether I am an officer in the company or not, I shall always aid the accomplishment of the plan in any way I can.

[From the London News, Oct [illegible]]

Notwithstanding, however, the scanty yield some very fine salmon were landed. In the Tay district as usual fish ran heavy and from the river was taken by the nets the champion fish of the year, a beautiful salmon weighing sixty five pounds. Two other big Tay fish weighing respectively sixty one and a half pounds and fifty three pounds were also captured. On the Wye near Hereford a salmon of fifty six pounds was said to have been caught. The champion fish to angler was landed on the Tay and weighed forty five and a half pounds. [illegible] nothing extraordinary to record either as to monster fish or large bags. [illegible]

Gladstone on Afghanistan.

Every one knows what Mr Gladstone thinks of the Afghan war and of all the other recent errors of English diplomacy but his words are worth quoting as he expressed himself a short time ago when in Paris. When the subject was broached his eye sparkled, he rose from his chair and spoke in an animated manner:

Oh, this unhappy war! I do not know what the present cabinet will do with Cabul and its Khan. I do not believe that even the cabinet itself knows. But we are on the eve of an election. I am employing all my might to lead England from the dangerous road and if our hopes are realized between England and Russia will be more points of agreement than of disagreement. I am persuaded that our people do not wish and never did wish to quarrel with Russia, that they will never justify those acts of the present cabinet which have destroyed their sympathy for you. I think and I hope that the Beaconsfield cabinet is living its last days and that the judgment of its deeds will fall a heavy burden to the lot of the liberal party. The faults of the Beaconsfield [illegible] apparent that its strength has already gone over to our camp. Yes, yes, our present war is not only a blunder of the cabinet but it is its crime.

MONDAY MORNING, NOV. 24, 1879.

A GOOD AND PROPER LAW.

Among the important laws passed by the legislature of Washington territory at the recent session was an act to equalize valuations of property for assessment of taxes. It is an act of which the territory has long stood in need. Oregon equally needs such a law, and it may be hoped that the act of Washington territory will afford an encouraging example to our state to go and do likewise. Our constitution requires that taxation shall be equal and uniform, and we have a statute which provides that property shall be assessed at its cash valuation; but the mandate both of constitution and of statute is to a great extent disregarded throughout the state, and no measures are taken by the law making power to enforce it. Counties are made to return low valuations in order to escape a just share of state taxes, and assessors in many cases put the valuation of property low in order to please their neighbors or make popularity for themselves. In many parts of the state lands which would command in the market from twenty-five to fifty dollars an acre, and which often the owners would not part with even at those prices, are valued for taxation at no more than five or six dollars; and then in many cases indebtedness is allowed which reduces the valuation, or entirely wipes it out. Through the imperfections of our laws a large share of the personal property within the state is able also to escape taxation. No system can, indeed, fully abate these abuses, nor can any vigilance or judgment on the part of assessors wholly obviate them. But proper revision of the statutes and creation of a board of equalization with adequate powers would meet much of the difficulty and bring the property valuation of the state up to something like a fair total. As it is, Oregon presents a beggarly showing, and the aggregate valuation is decreasing from year to year on the assessment rolls, rather than growing as it should be, and as it actually is, in fact.

The act as passed by the legislature of Washington territory creating a board of equalization and defining its duties, provides that such board shall consist of five members,—one to be elected from each of the three judicial districts, and with the territorial auditor and treasurer, the auditor to be ex-officio secretary. The first election will not take place until in November, 1880, and the first session of the board is fixed for the third Monday in August, following, to be held in Olympia and continued until the business coming before it is disposed of, provided that it shall not hold more than 30 days, and subsequent sessions shall not hold more than 15 days. At its first session it shall make and adopt all needed rules and regulations for its own government, and to carry into effect the provisions of the act. The board is directed to make diligent inquiry into the mode and manner in which the assessors of the several counties perform their duties, and for any failure or refusal to perform their duties the board shall report them to the district attorney for prosecution. The board is directed to examine the original assessment rolls as returned to the office of the secretary of the territory, and after such examination to equalize such assessments by adding to or deducting from the taxable property of any county or counties such percentage as will produce relatively equal and uniform valuations; and the results are to be remitted to the several boards, which are required to equalize the valuation as indicated and directed. The Olympia Courier, to which we are indebted for a summary of the act, adds that if the board is still doubtful as to the proper valuations of property in any county it may, by unanimous consent of all its members, empower one of its members to visit such county and make a personal inspection of the property in that county, and report his findings to the board. The action of county boards of equalization shall be subject to revision by the territorial board, and the latter board shall frame and transmit to the county boards the rules by which the latter shall be guided in making the additions and reductions provided for, and such rules shall be binding upon the county boards. The territorial board shall have full power to summon witnesses before it and to compel the production of the books and papers it may desire to examine in the course of its business. The board shall collect all information it may require in regard to the assessment and collection of revenue, and report the same to the governor, annually. Each elected member shall receive a per diem of five dollars, and mileage of fifteen cents going to and returning from the place of meeting. It is believed that the act will be of great benefit to the financial administration of the territory.

Oregon once attempted a board of equalization, but the law was a crude and cumbrous affair and its results were set aside, though as we think on merely technical and insufficient grounds. Our constitution, article first, declares that all taxation shall be equal and uniform; and in article nine it declares that the legislative assembly shall provide by law for uniform and equal rate of taxation, and shall prescribe such regulations as shall secure a just valuation for taxation of all property. But a constitutional provision will not enforce itself, and we are still without laws to make taxation equal and uniform, since the legislative assembly has notoriously and flagrantly neglected to prescribe the regulations required. The whole subject should be thoroughly overhauled. In almost every legislature we have had a few men who understand it, but it has been as yet impossible to make a majority of the members see the evil and comprehend the remedy. With reform of the laws relative to assessment and taxation there should be put in operation a system providing for estimates in advance by the administrative officers of the state of the amount of money required for each ensuing fiscal year, and the tax levy for state purposes should be made on that basis. Such limitation would prevent accumulation of large sums in the treasury, under the increased valuation of property, to be wasted by legislative extravagance, or to be a temptation to schemers or robbers, who might be depended on, if they had a chance, to pool their issues for a raid on any surplus sum that might be in the treasury.

MR. BAYARD'S PLATFORM.

Senator Bayard, who has now become the hope of a section of the democratic party, has been talking quite freely since his return from Europe. The country has been told that he is the statesman who is to lead his party out of the slough of Bourbonism, set it on firm ground, and inspire it with progressive purposes. He is called a broad and liberal statesman, one who is an enemy to the reactionary tendencies of his party, and whose leadership will raise it from the depths and bring it at once upon a higher plane. So Bayard is the man.

This sounds well—in the index. On one subject, indeed, Mr. Bayard has been right, and deserves the thanks of the country. He has stood firmly for sound finance. But there is no man who is more completely indoctrinated with the state supremacy notions held by his party. Here is the tap root of democratic error, the real source of the controversy of the country for twenty years with the democratic party. Mr. Bayard is of those who hold that this is not a nation, but only a league of states. Among his utterances since the recent elections is one to the effect that "the questions of local self-government and free elections are still undecided." Now what was at issue in the late elections? Mr Bayard's party forced the extra session under the pretense that local self-government and free elections were in danger. It was a false issue, but it gave the democratic leaders a chance to appeal to the country on behalf of the principles of the late southern confederacy and the state sovereignty rebellion. The verdict has gone tremendously against them. Yet Mr Bayard says these questions are still unsettled. Is he the statesman who is to lead his party on a new crusade like that of the late extra session? His talk, if it means anything, indicates that he will reopen and continue the debate on that programme.

In that case the same gulf awaits him that has swallowed Mr. Thurman. A great majority of the people of the northern states have no mind to consent to a revival of the political doctrines of the late southern confederacy, and their introduction into the government of the United States. If Mr. Bayard can't do better than this it would be as well for his friends not to brag too loud of his alleged freedom from the follies of Bourbon statesmanship.

IT IS ROBBERY, NOT PROTECTION.

A writer in the November number of the International Review has shown that we are selling cottons in Manchester, coals in Newcastle and cutlery in Sheffield. It has also been shown that we are selling plated goods in Birmingham, and agricultural implements, as scythes and pitchforks, in many parts of England. American screws and forks are competing with those of English manufacturers in their own markets, and in various other lines our goods are invading the markets of that country. Our manufacturers, then, do not want "protection" for any of these classes of goods. Such are our facilities that we can produce them at a profit against foreign "pauper labor," and not only command our own markets but invade those of distant countries. But there are other commodities which are not produced among us in sufficient supply for our consumption, and the monopolists who control their manufacture are careful not to produce enough for the market, while they keep out the foreign article by heavy tariffs and thus make enormous profits. The most conspicuous instance of this abuse is in the case of steel rails, for which there is a large demand throughout the country and which are made to bear fully two prices because of the protective tariff. But steel rails can be produced in this country without the need of protection just as well as axes, pitchforks and cutlery; and the fact that these last named classes of goods, manufactured in America, can be sold in England, goes to prove that steel rails do not need the protection claimed. It goes to show also that the results of the protection of steel rails go into the pockets of the monopolists who are enabled by the tariff and patent laws to control that industry and rob the country. The Pacific northwest must now have large quantities of railway materials, for which fully two prices must be paid. The amount within the next few years must go up into the millions, unless the duty is abolished or reduced. It should be one chief object of the efforts of our delegation in congress to stop this robbery of our people for the benefit of the wealthy monopolists of the eastern states, who this year are pocketing twenty millions of dollars wrung from those parts of the country which are struggling for railway development. There is reason to believe that one of the first measures attempted at the new session of congress will be the reduction of the duty on steel rails. It ought to be abolished entirely.

CONKLINGISM.

About the time "the ball opened" in Ohio early in the fall—it is the New York Graphic that tells the story—Gen. Garfield visited New York as the bearer of a letter from Mr. Foster to Senator Conkling, inviting the latter gentleman to make a few speeches in Ohio in behalf of the "cause." Immediately upon the ushering in of Garfield to the senator's presence, without even extending the common courtesies of the day, Conkling, in his most haughty manner, and with a withering and sarcastic tone of voice, demanded to know "if that man Foster was a republican?" Without awaiting a reply from Garfield, he followed his previous question with: "Is John Sherman a republican now? Is Evarts a republican now?" Raising himself upon the ends of his toes, extending his arms upward, and in the most dramatic manner possible, with voice pitched upon a high key, "Is Hayes a republican?" Garfield was so indignant that he instantly left Conkling's presence without delivering the message. The story is probable, because it well illustrates Conkling's manner. Even if not actually true as to the incident itself, it has in it the higher truth which is characteristic of the best kind of fiction; and so it explains at once what is the matter with the republican party in New York. No party can be strong under such insolent dictatorship, and the republican party especially will rebel against it. We see here why it is that Cornell ran thirty-five thousand behind his ticket, and how the ticket was handicapped for a race which could have been won easily without the weight of Conklingism.

Eastern capitalists are, of late, taking great interest in western mining enterprises. The Boston Economist touches the subject thus: "It is no longer to be disguised that mining has entered on an entirely new career in the United States. Our own people are at last beginning to own and work mines themselves. Once it was the habit to run to Europe to enlist capital in the development of this great and steadily expanding interest. Our people seemed to think that there was magic in foreign capital, while the science of mining, so far as developed, was and could be in none but foreign possession. But we have changed all that now. We have entered, as just stated, on a new era. There are over fifty mining corporations in Chicago to-day and the number is continually increasing. In New York and Boston it is becoming a common thing to organize corporations with mining properties for the basis, and it is a matter of notoriety that men well known in business circles and men distinguished in public callings are readily engaging in the new business.

The work of educating native Indian teachers, soon to be commenced at Pacific University, is an interesting experiment, and one which will cause much comment and perhaps arouse some opposition. Persons holding the emotional, noble red man theory will at once give it enthusiastic endorsement. Those holding the Indian to be by predestination a fierce and irreclaimable savage will condemn and ridicule it as a useless and absurd expense, while by far the greater proportion of calmer sense, will regard the question perhaps with some misgivings. It is just possible that some enterprising democratic brother may startle the public with a charge that Captain Wilkinson's school boys are in fact a company of military savages to be used to override the liberties of a free people or to intimidate the voters of Washington county. Governor Grover would be capable of giving that alarm.

The recent battle off the South American coast between the Peruvian iron clad ship of war Huascar and a fleet of Chilean vessels, additional details of which we have by telegraph to day, is the first considerable combat which has occurred since the introduction of perfected methods of naval warfare. The deadly work of that battle illustrates or rather proves the observation that on the sea as well as on the land, modern equipments render the "uncertainties of war" a deadly certainty. A fight between war ships thoroughly armed and manned, now means most horrible destruction to one, and perhaps to both.

The German prohibitive tariff is already causing trouble in the fatherland. Prince Bismarck's original intention was to impose a duty on corn after the 1st of next January. But a great rise in the price of breadstuffs and other articles of consumption has naturally ensued, and the government is now on the horns of the dilemma between raising money as at first proposed, and causing a famine, or weakening the protective position by delay. As the matter now stands, it is considered doubtful whether the impost will go into operation at the beginning of the year.

Memphis is proposing to get out of its financial troubles by a lottery scheme. A friend of the proposed lottery tried to get Postmaster General Key's indorsement, but he replied denouncing the scheme, and sent his correspondent the circulars of his department issued against the passage of lottery matter through the mails.

On the 8th of November twelve tons of fine silver valued at $400,000 were shipped by the New York assay office, to the new mint at New Orleans for coinage into standard dollars. A further shipment of thirteen tons has since been made, the total value of both shipments being over $800,000.

In the opinion of the Chicago Times the best thing the southern politicians can do is "to cease to think of themselves collectively as a female person called 'the south.'" The whole case seems to be summed up in this impressive, and likewise expressive, advice.

The newspaper gets at the bottom of the case and makes them of record [illegible] exaggerated accounts sell them [illegible]. Moreover an item of news is a newspaper's stock in trade. A person has as much right to go to a merchant and tell him to give you five dollars worth of goods from his store or he will hurt your [illegible], as to ask a newspaper to suppress items of news for which the publisher would pay five dollars. THE WALKING MATCHES

Wilson, of Fours, Makes 200 Miles and Wins First Money in Firemen's Contest Johnston Second Thompson Third—Seventy two Hour Match at Armory Hall between Members of Military Companies—Last Night of Races at Turn Halle

[illegible] night [illegible] the finish of the [illegible] [illegible]

New Armory Hall

At Armory Hall as the lady walkers drew to the close of their terrible task of walking 1 00[illegible] miles in 1[illegible] hours the public began to manifest considerable concern as to their condition looks etc and the crowds present each evening attest their appreciation of their efforts in the frequent applause which they tender them on their appearance on the sawdust. The ladies both appear in different costumes in their attempt to attract their attention and with commendable diligence apply them[illegible] to their task seemingly caring for little else To-day at 10 [illegible] they will have completed their 1 000 quarters but will continue walking until 5 P M when each will then run a quarter mile and endeavor to beat the lady's time for that distance on record It is not without regret on the part of the ladies that they do not continue their walk until they have completed 2000 quarters as both are as fresh as when they started This departure was found necessary by Manager Blackburn from the pressure caused by the variety of local matches which are advertised to take place in this hall during their stay The ladies will give exhibition walks each evening and will lend to the attractive programmes announced

By reference to our advertising columns it will be seen that T B Sturges the amateur who has lately vanquished both lady champions is anxious to try his luck with more formidable foes and has published a card in which he states his willingness to engage with the winners in the late firemen's contest in a [illegible] hour walk at this hall No doubt he will be accommodated and if satisfactory arrangements can be made this will be an exciting contest If neither the first or second man in that contest accepts his challenge Thompson the winner of the third prize and the one who showed such remarkable powers as a pedestrian in the last [illegible] hours of the contest will accommodate that gentleman Wednesday evening there will be commenced 100 mile race at this hall between George W Lee of San Francisco and Ted Smith a man who has few if any superiors as a long distance walker The conditions of the race are to be a go as you please for 100 miles for a purse of $100 a side Each evening after what is already billed for this hall there will be races between prominent citizens for purses large enough to make it interesting

The race between the members of the various military companies still continues and is beginning to attract considerable attention. Up to 8 o'clock last evening the following was the score Campbell No 2 [illegible] miles Sheridan No 1 77 miles Hart No 6, [illegible] miles Tuttle No 6 61 miles Kelly No 9 61 miles Doherty No 8, 60 miles Donegan No 8 56 miles Capt Elston and Louis Webber both have withdrawn each coming to the conclusion that they were not cut out for pedestrians

THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE OF PORTLAND

PORTLAND Nov 23 1879

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

[illegible] a communication from [illegible] merchant [illegible] [illegible] Merchants' Exchange [illegible] Mr F Jaynes [illegible] 1878 [illegible] [illegible] San Francisco [illegible]

At that time [illegible] members of the board of trade [illegible] this city the property of [illegible] exchange and [illegible] secretary and [illegible] keep everything fully up to [illegible] the [illegible] telegrams etc, was placed [illegible] but they thought the time had not arrived The [illegible] was again renewed this year and this time [illegible] when I determined to undertake the enterprise alone and in a flat and with no promise of membership from any but Ladd & Tilton, Hodge, Rodgers Meyer & Co, H Hewitt & Co, J G Fairfowl & Son and Brown & McCabe Capt A Knouf who took kindly interest in the undertaking rented me a large room—the [illegible] [illegible] making certain improvements. These improvements together with others the new proprietors Messrs Burrell & Thompson of the New Market theater block made which gives us a room for all purposes that cannot be excelled After the room was fitted up and ready for subscribers it was difficult to get persons to enroll and even see it but after visiting it they expressed themselves in high terms and not only that (excepting one firm) all joined Visitors from the east and also from San Francisco expressed themselves greatly surprised to find such an institution here and those from San Francisco go so far as to say that the exchange there does not equal this in all its various parts for this exchange gives more telegraphic market reports equally if not more shipping intelligence whilst its system of keeping the imports and exports and also daily receipts of produce cannot be improved With your permission Mr Editor I will say that the exchange membership cannot possibly meet my expenses—no not one third of them—but with the two branches merchants exchange and the private telegrams giving full detailed market reports of London Liverpool New York and San Francisco these expenses are met I will also add that I have under pay one person at Astoria, one at San Francisco and reciprocal arrangements at New York and Liverpool

Since writing the above my attention is called to a part of the communication in the Standard wherein the writer insinuates that favoritism is shown to some This I unhesitatingly pronounce without foundation in fact for any and all receive the same information given to any one else by paying a like sum for the additional telegrams

Respectfully

THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon

McMinnville is making an effort to employ a night watchman.

J. D. Nash of McMinnville suffered the loss of a finger last week.

The walking mania has reached Salem. A track has been made around an unoccupied block and the athletic youths of the city are contesting for superiority.

Mr. Prettyman, living on Mount Tabor, back of East Portland, has raised a small field of white winter rye. It yielded at the rate of 70 bushels per acre.

At a meeting of the Corvallis H. & L. Co. last week, the following persons were elected to fill vacancies: Zephina Job, foreman; W. P. Kenly, vice president; Samuel Wrenn 2d assistant foreman.

The Independence hook and ladder company has elected the following officers to serve during the ensuing year: President, H. Williams; secretary, John Hale; treasurer, A. Deming; foreman, G. W. Quivey.

Amity correspondence: Two neighbors here had a fight last week. The one that had the best of it rushed into town to Justice Corker's office, and, all breathless, wanted to know what he had to pay for whipping another fellow. Justice C. answered that it depended on how much and how bad he whipped him, then the self-accused criminal told his story, and it appearing not at all likely that the whipped would appear against the whipper, Justice C. told the self-accused that he would let him off with five dollars, the lowest fine allowed by law—no costs. This was satisfactory, and the prosecuting witness left in company with the defendant. The whipped never appeared.

Southern Oregon.

A fellow named Clarke, who recently stole a horse from Mr. Davlin, of Douglas county, has been captured and the animal recovered.

Last week the Masons of Roseburg presented W. J. Freidlander with a handsome gold-headed cane and an elegant swinging silver pitcher.

A Masonic lodge was instituted at Canyonville on the 20th inst., called South Umpqua lodge No. 12, the officers being installed by J. C. Fullerton, G. M.

Roseburg paper: Uncle Jack Woodruff says he has found a couple of live curiosities, one white and one spotted otter. He proposes catching them as soon as the fur becomes good.

The people of Wilbur suggest the propriety of a portion of the money appropriated to repair the road between Scottsburg and Camp Stewart, be applied in building a bridge across Camas swale at their town. They propose raising a portion of the funds.

Canyonville has a fine sensation on hands. Mr. Schulze's dog killed Pat O'Shea's sheep, whereupon Pat walked into the dooryard of Mr. S. and shot the offending cur. A row resulted, during which Pat leveled his gun on Schulz, for which he was arrested and compelled to give bonds to appear before the grand jury.

The people of Canyonville precinct feel indignant at some of the mill men at Roseburg, who have so obstructed the river that the fish, which used to be so plenty there, are no more. Not one salmon or trout has put in an appearance yet, although the water has been in excellent condition for the fall run. Legal steps will be taken if the matter is not remedied by the mill men putting in a ladder.

Western Washington.

There are nine prisoners in the Seattle jail.

Prices at Olympia: Wheat, $1; oats 50c; potatoes, 37½c; flour, $6 50.

Jonathan Simmons died at his residence on Black river, Chehalis county, W. T., Nov. 17, 1879, aged 75 years. Mr. Simmons came from Iowa, his native state, 27 years ago, and settled in Douglas county, Oregon, where he resided until two years ago, when he came to this territory and settled on Black river. He leaves an aged wife and five children.

Gen. Milroy, superintendent of Indian affairs for Washington territory, has recently received from the department at Washington the papers supporting claims for damages from Indians in the territory during the war of 1855-6. His instructions are to inquire into and ascertain the validity of such claims and then report to Washington his findings.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL.

Chandler was worth $3,000,000, which he made through Detroit real estate. He left it all to his only daughter, Mrs. Eugene Hale, of Maine.

The late Mrs. G. F. Train showed great business capacity in the early history of the Pacific railway, making at one time $100,000 in commissions.

The prevailing style of wide belts worn by the ladies is calculated to impress one with the belief that a great deal of leather belting is going to waist.

Boston Herald, Ind.: We should say that, instead of strengthening the Grant "boom," the result in New York should make General Grant's nomination impossible.

Miss Dudu Fletcher, the only daughter of the Rev. J. C. Fletcher, author of some works on Brazil, is to married shortly to Lord Wentworth, the only surviving grandson of Lord Byron.

A lazy man having a wife named Hope, whose custom it was to pull off her husband's boots every evening, was wont to exclaim on such occasions: "How truly it is said that 'Hope is the yanker of the soul.'"

Dr. Erastus A. Munger, of Waterville, Oneida county, N. Y., has just died, aged 66 years. He was the first homœopathic physician in Oneida county and the first president of the New York State Homœopathic Society.

Mrs. Lucy Stone is quoted by the Cincinnati Gazette as saying that Chief Justice Chase once said to her: "I see no end to the good to come from woman's suffrage, both on the elections and on the elected, and on the women themselves."

The Sun outlines the Democratic trouble in New York when it says: "With the presidency any man should be content; Mr Tilden seemed hardly willing that a statesman like Sanford E. Church should sit down to so much as a plate of cold victuals."

Stoneyhurst college, the great English Jesuit establishment at which Sir Roger Tichborne was educated, and which figured so largely in the celebrated case, is to be rebuilt from the foundation at a cost of £100,000. The estate comprises above 2000 acres.

The oldest woman in Scotland is Elizabeth Tulloch, for fourteen years an inmate of St. Nicholas poorhouse. She is 110 or 112 years of age, it being difficult to tell whether she was the older of two sisters whose births are recorded respectively in 1767 and 1769.

The Facts About Grant.

[From the Cincinnati Commercial, Ind.]

We got along very well without Grant while he was going around the world, and we do not need him now. There are a million citizens of the United States as capable as he of being a good president for the four years succeeding Hayes. Any capable justice of the peace is equal to the chief magistracy. The American people must not be permitted to make asses of themselves about the need of rulers. We do not require anybody to rule over us. We are republicans, and rule ourselves. The president isn't a ruler. He is an agent. Gen. Grant has had a glorious progress around the globe, and comes home loaded with honors. He cannot afford to risk the glory of his career in a doubtful political contest. Mark it, he cannot afford it; still less can the republican party afford to force the presidential candidacy upon him. He is, therefore, impossible. We believe he understands the situation. Long before the time the republican national convention assembles the fact that he was thought of as a candidate will have passed from the list of serious affairs. He will be warmly welcomed, as he ought to be, and that will be the end of it.

In Perfect Accord.

[From the New York World.]

The other morning a man from the war department met a man from the interior department, and immediately knocked him down and stepped on him.

"This appears to be genuine," remarked the man from the interior department as the other man kicked his eye out.

"It does, indeed," assented the man from the war department.

"Still," continued the man from the interior, "I do not see that it in any way changes the harmonious relations between the two departments." And as soon as the man on top took away his foot out came several of his teeth.

"No," said the man from the war department, stooping down to pull his friend's ear out by the roots, "no, it does not. This looks as though we were not in perfect accord, I admit; but we are. We are in perfect accord, and I insist upon it."

He then paused a moment to scalp the prostrate man from the interior department, who smiled pleasantly upon him, and the twain then pursued their harmonious ways.

Quinine in eastern markets was $3 50 per ounce when the duty was taken off in June. Now it is $2 90.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

SATURDAY EVENING, November 22, 1879.

There is rather more activity in the wheat market to-day, under advices from abroad which indicate some recuperation from the depression which prevailed all of last week. It is not safe, however, to quote above $1 97½ per cental. Oats are also in better request with an improvement of 1@2 cents per bushel. Flour is quiet and firm at our last quotations. Potatoes in lessened supply but still dull. Provisions in lighter stock with a brisk call for choice bacon at full rates. Eggs in good request at the figures given yesterday.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN
The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.
IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL
CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

HAS RETURNED AFTER AN EXTENSIVE tour of the Eastern States, for the past four months. The Doctor while absent visited all the principal Medical institutions in the large cities of the United States, and comes back with all the modern methods, instruments and appliances known to the most scientific men in the profession. The Doctor has also brought charts and manikins to illustrate his lecture.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN has been fifteen years lecturing on the Laws of Life and Health. In his private and public lectures he has taught men and women the true system of life, how to be healthy and happy, if they would only be guided by his wise counsel. But all cannot hear his delightful and instructive lectures, nor can he tell everything necessary for suffering humanity to know from the public rostrum before a promiscuous audience. There remains much to be learned from him as his experience extends over broad fields of active professional life. This knowledge so necessary to the welfare of the sufferer can only be gleaned by private Professional Consultation at his office.

His experience in the various parts of Europe and America give him such opportunities of learning the delicate diseases which the human family are prone to, their mode of treatment and permanent cure, as no other physician on the Pacific Coast can claim. He has not only treated these diseases most successfully, but has made them a life study, as a few moments' consultation will prove.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring, either directly or indirectly, from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession.

IT IS TRUE

That persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Those who call in time upon DR. PAUL M. BRENAN need have no fear but what he will restore them to perfect health and vigor, make their body pure and their mind content if they will only follow his advice and treatment.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail. No quack Nostrums [illegible]

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Consultation Free and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. All [illegible]
